It affords me pleasure to assure you that aftusing Dr. C. I have not had then constantly said had to try others, and I have tried a promptly, profitably and nicely as McLane's. I have used them on myself, wife and children, with the most gratifying results.

For children, having used them on my own with such easy and happy effect, I would recommend them to one and ail. These pills do the work—do it priomptly, do it well, and leave no ill effects Aa a bile remover, as a liver corrector, as a forenuner preparing the system for quinine, there is no pill or medicine equal to Dr. C. But something stayed his feet; there was i fire in the grate within—for the night was chill—and it lit up the little parlor and prought out in startling effects the pictures on the wall. But these were as nothing to the picture on the hearth. There, by th soft glow of the firelight, knelt his little child at her mother's feet, its small hands child at her mother's leet, its small hands clasped in prayer, its fair head bowed, and as its rosy lips uttered each word with childish distinctness the father listened, spell-bound to the spot.

"Now I lay me down to sleep, I pray the Loid, my rout to keep; If I should die before I wake, I pray the Loid my soul to take.

I pray the lord my soul to take.

Sweet innocence. The man himselt, who stood there with hearded lips shut tightly together, had said that prayer once at his mother's knee. Where was that mother now? The sunset gates had long ago unbarred to let her pass through. But the hild had not finished; he heard her God bless mamma, paps and my ownself,"—then there was a pause, and she litted her roubled blue eyes to her mother's face. "God bless papa," prompted the mother, toftly.

"God bless paps," lisped the little one.
"And—please send him home sober."
He could not hear the mother as she said this, but the child followed in a clear, inspired tone:

"God—bless papa—and please—send him—home—sober. Amen." Mother and child sprang to their feet in alarm when the door opened so suddenly, but they were not afraid when they saw who it was, re-turned so soon; but that night, when little Mamie was being tucked in bed after such a romp with paps, she said, in the steepiest and most contented of voices: "Mamma, God answers most as quick as the telephone, doesn't he?"

conference concerning contagious diseases among our domestic animals. In addition to addresses and reports the following topics are proposed for discussion: 1. The extent to which contagious diseases exist among domestic animals in this country.

2. The modes by which they are introduced or disseminated. 3. Methods by which they may ose radicated, or an infected district be isolated. 4. The efficiency of existing legislation relative to such diseases. It is desired that this Convention may be National and thoroughly representative in its character. The time and place have been selected for the convenience of the large number of those directly interested in the questions to be discussed, who are expected to be in attendance at the Annual Fat Stock Show under the auspices of the Illinois State Board of Agriculture, and meetings of a number of important livestock associations to be held during the continuance of this show. Agricultural, live stock and dairy associations are invited to send representatives, and all persons interested in breeding, rearing, transporting, importing or exporting any class of farm animals will be welcomed to the

We hear of some farmers who are selling off their sheep, as the price of wool will not justify their keeping sheep. We think this bad policy. It is well to reduce the flock when some other branch of farmthe flock when some other branch of farming will pay better, perhaps, but we would keep the "flock well in hand," for by another year sheep may be very profitable. Who knows? Sheep will always pay when properly managed. We know of some farmers who keep none, and they could keep a small flock with very little extra expense. A good authority on sheep says that one sheep to every live acres of land can be kept on grain or dairy farms, in addition to the full complement of other stock, and will bring in a profit of $5 per head, annually, which would otherwise be iest. Sheep are profitable on farms which are troubled by weeds and briars, if they only pay for the keeping.

The "V" Nickel.

Wartington Cor. Boston Tructeter.

Numerous letters are being received by the Secretary of the Treasury by the Officials of the mint bureau from coin colecters. It will be remembered that when the new five-cent nickel was first issued it had on its face the simple Roman letter V, to denote its denomination, without the word "cents" below. This raised the question as to whether the coin could not be gided and passed for a five dollar gold piece. But very few of them were is sued before the word "cents" was added. Coin collectors are beginning to gather them, and are offering all the way from 50 cents to $2 for specimens of the first issue. Now the Treasury Department would not furnish that discription of coin even though it had all the original issue in its possession. As soon as a nickel without essession. As soon as a nickel without the word "cents" is received at the Treas the word "cents" is received at the Treatury Department it is retired from circulation and recoined with the missing word added. This action on the part of the Government will tend to make the original new nickel more of a rarity, and will doubtless greatly enhance its value among coin collectors in a few days.

The New York Times suggests that farmers steep their seed wheat in some caustic solution that will destroy the germs of rust and smut. These substances destroy the spores or seeds of the minute plants that produce the diseases. Smut is rapidly increasing, and precautions should be taken to present it.

All fruits ripen better in the dark than it the light, tomatoes included, says the arm Journal. The shoots of this season's growth should point in the article, "John, what is the germ theory?"

"The germ theory-well-yes; just loo in the encyclopedia under 'Germ, that will explain it so much better than I can.

Accordingly his wife opened the book a the word named and read: Germ Theory of Disease—A theory advanced by the ablest and best investigators and scientists of the times. It supposes the surface of the earth, the air and water to be inhabite to a greater or less extent with a peculia growth of the lowest form of fungi-com monly termed bacteria, whose power of re production, under favorable conditions, is so great that a single germ will increase to fifteen million in twenty-four hours' time and unchecked in its increase would grow fifteen milition in twenty-four hours' time, and unchecked in its increase would grow to a mass of eight hundred tous, in three days' time, if space and food be furnished. There is no condition under which it can be said to be absent, unless it be from fire or air filtered through cotton-batting in numerous layers. A single drep of water boiled, filtered and thus freed from bacteris, will grow murky in a day or two from the development of new germs. When it is considered that it requires forly billion to weigh one grain, some remote idea can be had of the capacity of germ reproduction. Professor John Tyndall, in a late work, elaborately treats of the influence of germs in the propagation of disease and charges upon this cause, the inception and development of very many of the ailments most injurious to man. Professor Pasteur, an eminent French savant, has carried his original and beautiful experiments so far, and from them deduced such practical results as very greatly to dimnish the number of cases of antbrax among sheep and chicken cholera among for sls, proving his theory that these are essentially and actually germ diseases. These germs are carried into the system through the lungs, the stomach and possibly the skin, but through the lungs chiefly. Once GOOD in its effects on business.
With a sound digestion a man can the lungs, the stomach and possibly the skin, but through the lungs chiefly. Once in the system, they begin to devylop, poisty oning the blood, invading the nerve centers, disturbing the functional activity of the great organs of the body and inducing a general impairment of the vital processes. They are the cause of fevers, rheumatism, and bright's disease of the kidneys, pueumonian, blood-poisoning, liver disease, diphart theria and many other aliments. Lately Professor Kooch, a famous German physician, has proved that consamption of the lings is due to this cause—the presence of a peculiar germ.

When the circulation is bounding, the nerves elastic and the system all aglow with life and energy, the germs seem to develop poorly, if at all. But with weakened nerver, poor dygeation or malassimilation of food of or a lowering of vitality from any cause, a chauge ensues, and in this impoverished and weakened fluid the germ finds a genial home and develope until symptoms of disease are distinctly manifested. This is seen in the every-day experience of all. The healthy man resists the influences around him and does not take cold, while those whose systems have become weak from any cause readily contract colds. This is on the same principle as the germ theory. The germs attack any weakened epot in the body, and fixing themselves upon it, begin their propagation. It is plain therefore that it is only by fortifying the weak portions of the body that the germs of disease are burstless of the system. But this has proved almost an impossibility heretofore, and it has been almost of the body and scientists generally, which is based upon this theory, and it may safely be said, no remedy has ever been found which can so euccessfully place the system in a condition to resist the germs of disease as Warner's Safe Care. This arricle is unquestionably the best and most efficient that has ever been discovered for this purpose, and—

"John, say, John! does the encyclopedia advertise Warner's Safe Care?"

However the facts above stated may be he truth remains, that the germ theory of isease is the correct one and that the rent remedy mentioned is the only one which has ever been found that can put the system in a condition to kill these terms before they obtain a hold upon the body, and undermine the life.
